GOOD WORK IN SUPERIOR COURT

About Twenty-Five Cases Disposed of.

Large Number of Them Were Not Passed—Only Three Or Four Jury Trials—True Bill Against Callie Nettles—Horwitz Cases Wednesday—Ingle Case Thursday—Order Signed In Bankruptcy Case.

The regular September term of Guilford Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases convened yesterday morning, Judge C. C. Lyon, of Elizabeth City, presiding. There were something more than a hundred cases on the docket and during the day about twenty-five were disposed of either by trial, continuance or not pros.

Messrs. Charles Harrison Redding, of Guilford county, and Jesse F. Milliken, of Chatham county, took the oath as attorneys and were admitted to practice in the State courts.

Mr. Julius M. Dick was made foreman of the grand jury. The other members are as follows: T. M. Webb, Martin Barnes, L. G. Boswell, Jesse L. May, S. H. Stafford, E. O. Pegram, C. V. Richardson, J. W. Crews, N. M. Knight, M. L. Fogleman, W. F. Andrews, J. G. Jobe, D. H. Blair, John A. Brewer, V. B. Donnell, D. W. Osborne, Jesse W. Frazier.

Judge Lyon's charge to the grand jury was brief, but to the point. After this body got down to work the docket was called and the following cases disposed of: Baxter Shemwell, continued under former order. Joe Clapp, appeal from Municipal court on retailing charge, not pros. J. H. Patterson, three retailing cases, not pros. Robert Chavis, receiving stolen goods, not pros. The cases against A. Horwitz was set for Wednesday. He is charged with receiving property known to have been stolen. The case against Sam A. Ingle, who is charged with allowing a blockade still to be operated on his premises, was set for Thursday. Judge Lyon announced that he would hear the set fa cases on Thursday. It was announced that the case against R. W. Pegram, of Stokesdale, who is charged with arson, would not be taken up before Wednesday afternoon.

The case of Marion Butler and Lester E. Butler was left open, but it will likely be not prosed during the term.

The grand jury returned a true bill against Callie Nettles, the negro woman charged with murdering her infant child at Revolution some weeks ago. The case has not been set for trial.

The following cases were taken up yesterday afternoon: Branson Jackson, retailing, fine $20 and costs. Levi Richardson, assault with a deadly weapon, no sentence. Judge Lyon signed an order in the matter of the Carolina Insurance Company, of High Point, following the report of the temporary receivers, Messrs. A. Matton and Robert Brockett, making the receivers permanent and instructing the receivers to dispose of any assets for cash. It also authorized the receivers to pay a 25 per cent.

dividend to the shareholders. The receivers in their report recommended that this be done, also that the attorney, W. P. Ragan be paid $200 for legal services rendered.

T. P. GORE, BLIND SENATOR, SPEAKS IN REIDSVILLE TODAY

Could Not Accept Chairman Sherrill's Invitation To Speak Here—Will Spend Tonight Here.

Democratic County Chairman E. G. Sherrill received the following telegram yesterday from U. S. Senator Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma, who spoke yesterday at Chatham, Va.:

"Impossible for me to make two speeches in one day. Exceedingly sorry that I cannot accept your kind invitation."

Knowing that Senator Gore would spend tonight in Greensboro, Mr. Sherrill wired him urging to make an address while here.

Failing to get Senator Gore to speak here, Chairman Sherrill set to work to make it convenient for Greensboro people to go to Reidsville to hear the distinguished Senator from Oklahoma. The Reidsville committee consented to arrange for Senator Gore's speech to continue after the arrival of No. 36. So those who desire can go from here on 36 and return in the evening on 35.

Sensor Gore, it appears, will break his rule tomorrow as to speaking only once in one day for he is billed in the daytime at Salisbury and at night at Charlotte. However, when he gets into the State he may upset the plans of the arrangement committees.

Sensor Gore will spend tonight in this city, arriving most likely on No. 35 at 6 o'clock or if not then on No. 43 at 7:10.

ALDERMEN MEET TONIGHT.

Special Session To Settle the Street Lighting Proposition.

Mayor E. J. Stafford stated last night that he would today call a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen for tonight at 8 o'clock for the purpose of definitely deciding on a lighting contract with the North Carolina Public Service Company. The lighting contract will doubtless be prepared and signed up during the session.

The special committee and Water Light Commission met with officials of the Public Service Company Saturday afternoon and while none of the members would state the terms it is understood that an agreement was reached by the company and the committee. It is believed that the aldermen will adopt the recommendations that will be made by the committee tonight. It is also known that the clause relating to the maximum rate for private consumers of electricity will either be stricken out or fixed at 12 cents less 5 per cent. discount for cash.

ROBBED A FIREMAN.

Thief Secures Half a Hundred Dollars From Mr. Fletcher Fleming.

While he was at the fire Sunday morning someone skidded up the "sliding pole" at the Hook & Ladder station and secured $52 in bills from the pocket of a pair of trousers belonging to Mr. Fletcher Fleming, a member of the fire company. In the pockets was about $59 in silver which the thief never touched.

Mr. Flemming donned another pair of pants when the alarm sounded and skidded down the pole without thinking of the money in the trousers he had worn the day before, as the door leading to the rooms was locked. But when he examined his pockets on his return his money was gone. Several negroes were seen loitering around the station after the firemen left, but as this is not unusual nothing was thought of the matter. It is likely that one of the negroes got the money.

Mr. Emsley Wright Hurt.

While hauling a load of sugar cane to a molasses mill Saturday afternoon Mr. Emsley Wright, who lives near Pleasant Garden, slipped from the load of cane between his mules. The animals became frightened and ran away, Mr. Wright being thrown beneath the wagon. The wheels passed over his body, breaking an arm and fracturing a bone in one leg. The injuries are quite painful and Mr. Wright will be incapacitated for some time to come.

Is Mentally Unbalanced.

THE GREATEST FACTOR OF CRIME

Is Whiskey, According to Judge Lyon.

So Stated In His Charge to Grand Jury Yesterday—Officers and Jurymen Should Be Active In Prosecution of All Blind Tigers—Carrying Concealed Weapons and Gambling Crimes About Which Little is Said.

In his charge to the grand jury in Guilford Superior court yesterday morning Judge C. C. Lyon stated that whiskey was the greatest known factor in causing crimes to be committed. He declared that while prohibition may not absolutely prohibit the sale of liquor in North Carolina it has proven a great blessing all over the State. The effects could be seen in the criminal courts all over the State, he said. The extent to which it prohibits, continued Judge Lyon, depends upon the activities of the officers and grand jurors of the several counties. Where these are active in their efforts to convict and punish those who violate the law by selling whiskey then the results are more in evidence. The whiskey sold in blind tigers is a dangerous thing to drink, he said, for the seller not only charges a high price, but in nearly all cases the stuff sold is not pure whiskey but some concoction which paralyzes the system.

Judge Lyon laid especial stress upon pistol totin' and gambling. These two offenses did not receive the attention they should, he declared, and he charged the grand jury that they should make presentments against any person or persons guilty of such offenses.

Carrying concealed weapons is a crime that should be looked after more closely, declared the court, for it has been proven that in nearly every murder case the murderer went around armed with a pistol. It also leads to many other crimes, said his honor. He charged the grand jury that it was their sworn duty to make presentments against any person against whom they had evidence of his having carried a concealed weapon during the past two years.

Toucing upon gambling Judge Lyon stated that it was the duty of the grand jury to make presentments against all parties guilty of gambling if they could obtain evidence of such crimes. The court stated that while crap shooters ought to be arrested and punished the men in higher stations of life should be prosecuted even more vigorously. He referred to the several forms of gambling usually resorted to by those other than the professionals. Betting on ball games, horse races and cotton future gambling were the chief forms used by the court in touching upon this subject.

In instructing the grand jury as to its duties the court charged that the county home should be inspected and the jury should ascertain whether the inmates were comfortable as well as whether they were well cared for. We owe it to ourselves to see that those who have grown old and are unable to care for themselves are not only well provided for with necessities of life but that they have comfortable surroundings. And as to the convicts he charged that they should be well cared for as well as well worked. The grand jury was instructed to see that the court house and offices were properly kept and to ascertain whether the property was being damaged. All persons damaging public property were liable to prosecution and should be prosecuted, said the court.

Another thing touched upon by His Honor was in regard to reports made by the grand jury to make presentments against any justice who had failed to make a report of all cases tried by him since the past term of court, showing what disposition had been made of such cases.

A SUMMARY OF CHARTER READ

Will be Discussed Thursday Night.

At Mass Meeting Last Night Objections Raised to Number of Features and Such Sections Set Aside For Discussion—Hoped There Will Be Large Attendance At Next Meeting Thursday Night—Much Interest.

The committee appointed to draft a proposed charter looking to a commission form of government for the city was much gratified at the interest shown in the proposed charter at the mass meeting held in the court house last evening. A summary of the proposed charter was read and the different features explained. Several features were objected to and these went over for a more extended discussion, the parties objecting simply giving their reason for objecting last night. After the reading of the summary the meeting adjourned until Thursday night at 8 o'clock at which time the sections objected to will be taken up and discussed one by one.

It is hoped that there will be even a larger attendance on Thursday evening for the committee and the directors of the Chamber of Commerce are anxious that the charter should provide that which is best for the city and the interests of the citizenship. Those who desire to do so can get copies of the sections they objected to by calling on Secretary McLean, of the Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. E. J. Justice, who stated the object. Mr. Justice also took occasion to make a few remarks to the members of the Chamber of Commerce regarding the efficient services rendered by Mr. McLean since he was elected secretary and the work that had been accomplished since the reorganization.

As to the proposed charter Mr. Justice stated that the meeting was called for the purpose of allowing every citizen in the city an opportunity to express his views upon the several provisions contained therein. He urged that every person make his objection to any or all of the sections and to suggest possible changes that would tend to make the charter stronger and give better and more efficient services on the part of the commissioners. He then called on Mr. L. J. Brandt to read a summary of the charter, stating that the sections objected to would be marked and after the reading the several sections objected to would be taken up and discussed one by one. However, after the summary had been read and a number of explanations made by Mr. Justice it was deemed best to adjourn and allow those present to think of the sections about which there are some differences of opinion. On motion of Mr. J. N. Wilson the meeting adjourned until Thursday night and meanwhile each person who desires can secure a copy of the sections to which they objected. This was carried.

The following provisions were the most strenuously objected to: The section creating four commissioners, Mr. R. R. King thinking that it might be possible to get along with three; the section making the mayor the commissioner of accounts, Mr. T. J. Murphy thinking the treasurer should be the one to do the figuring and that they mayor should have general oversight with only two commissioners under him; the section putting the commissioner of public safety in charge of the police, Judge Douglas raising the point that the commissioner should not have authority over the chief and the chief should be answerable only to the board; the section delegating power to condemn lands, Judge Douglas thinking the law already too broad in this respect; the section pertaining to the health, Aldermen Albright being of the opinion that other duties might here be added and provision made for other contingencies; the section pertaining to education, Mr. King stating that it ought to be looked into further; the section relating to the public library, Mr. Seales thinking the present board ought to be continued; the section regarding to fixing of a maximum rate to be charged by public service corporations, also a substitute offered by the directors placing this power in the corporation commission provided the board and the public service corporation could not get together, Mr. King thinking this should have more careful thought; the section taxing dogs $5 and making them subjects, of larceny, Mr. David Stern wishing to add an amendment taxing cats also (this created considerable laughter). Excepting the above sections the 110 sections passed without criticism, it appearing that everybody present was satisfied with the provisions contained therein.

The charter provides that the salary of the mayor shall be $2,600 and that of each of the commissioners $2,400 per annum.

MR. KLUTZ BACK.

Has Recovered Sufficiently From Auto Accident to Be Behind Counter Again.

Mr. A. J. Klutz, who was severely injured in an auto accident last week, was able to return home yesterday and he was behind his counter last night shaking hands with his many friends. With the exception of a black eye and a hole in the top of his head Mr. Klutz states that he is now all right and after a few days will not feel his injuries. How the party escaped without broken bones is nothing less than a miracle, Mr. Klutz says. The other members of the party have recovered.

Speaking of the accident Mr. Klutz stated that it occurred at a sharp curve, the curve being so situated that unless one was familiar with the road he would not know of it until right at it. He was going along pretty brisk and as he turned the rear tire burst, which caused the auto to turn turtle. Mr. Klutz stated that his auto would have to lay up for repairs much longer than he did.

NEW RAILROAD IS CHARTERED

Mica Belt Line Co., of Cranberry.

Fifteen Mile Project From Cranberry

Connecting With Carolina and Clinchfield Road—Capital $100,000—Other Charters Issued—Maj. B. F. Dixon Stricken Suddenly, Condition Serious—Should Make Reports.

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—The secretary of state charters the Mica Belt Line Railroad Co., of Cranberry, having for its purpose the construction of a railroad from Cranberry fifteen miles to a point on the Carolina & Clinchfield Railroad between Altapass and Spruce Pines. It is to go by way of Minneapolis along the North Toe river to Plumbtree and thence to whatever junction with the Carolina & Clinchfield that may be selected. The capital is $100,000 and the principal incorporators are T. B. and T. V. Vance, R. M. Burleson and others. Another charter is for the Efrid Co., Gastonia, capital $50,000, by E. L. Efrid and others, of Charlotte, for mercantile business. The Adams Drug Co. is another Gastonia concern chartered. The capital is $15,000 and J. L. Adams one of the principal incorporators. There is also the Raeford Lumber Co., Cumberland county, capital $20,000 for lumber, electric light and cotton oil mill enterprises. A. A. Willford is one of the principal incorporators.

The most intense alarm spread through the offices of the State capitol building about 11 o'clock this morning when Major B. F. Dixon, State auditor, was stricken with angina pectoris to such an extent that his life was despaired of one while. His suffering was intense. Quite a number of physicians responded to hurry calls and worked heroically for his relief.

Commissioner of Labor and Printing M. L. Shipman says there are quite a number of manufacturing concerns in various sections of the State that have failed to fill out the blanks with their annual reports furnished them and send them in to the office of the commissioner as required by law. The great majority have, of course, sent in their reports. He says it will be necessary very soon for him to take steps to go after the reports required. He is still hoping that the delinquents will give this matter their immediate attention and save trouble all round. The reports are for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910.

TRUTH ABOUT SNAKES.

We Have Been Doing Great Injustice to the Rattler and His Kindred—Not So Deadly After All.

Romance revels in the peril of the unknown. Lapped about with the armor-plate of civilization, the modern citizen muses relishingly, like a child beguiling himself with ogre tales, upon the terrors which lie just beyond his ken. Avid for sensation he peoples the remoteness of forest and mountain with malign and destructive creatures, whence has grown up an extensive and astonishing literature of snake and insect poison lore.

"Deadly" is the master word of the cult. The rattlesnake is "deadly." The copperhead and moccasin are "deadly." So is the wholly mythical puff adder. In hardly less degree is the tarantula "deadly," while varying lethal capacities are ascribed to the centipede, the scorpion, the kissing bug, and sundry other forms of insect life. The whole matter is based upon the slenderest foundations. I don't mean by this that these ill-famed species are wholly innocuous. It would be highly inadvisable to snatch a kiss from a copperhead or to stroke a tarantula's fur the wrong way. But one could do it and live to boast of the achievement. Pseudo-science to the contrary notwithstanding, there is no living thing within the boundaries of the United States of America whose bite or sting is sure death or (with one possible exception) even probable death.

There are five varieties of venomous serpents in this country: three of them Crotalids, and two belonging to the Elaps family. The Elaps are rather rare. The Crotalids (rattlesnake, moccasin, and copperhead) are common, and of the widest geographical distribution. Yet, on the basis of actual evidence, the amazing fact stands out that only about eighty persons, so far as is ascertainable, have ever died from snake bite in the United States.

Estimates vary as to the proportion of deaths to bites. Prentiss Willson believes that something over ten per cent of all persons bitten by venomous snakes in the United States die. As to how many of these succumb, not to the venom, but to the misdirected efforts of misguided friends at treatment—an extremely important differentiation—he lacks the data upon which to base a reckoning. S. Weir Mitchell's figures indicate 8.7 per cent mortality for rattlesnake bite. This would make the venom about as dangerous as the toxin of typhoid fever, which is not generally regarded as a necessarily "deadly" disease. Other writers go as high as fifteen per cent for the rattlesnake and as low as one per cent for the copperhead.

All general estimates seem to me to leave one basic element out of consideration—the unmoted, non-fatal snake bites. That a bite resulting in death will eventually get itself reported is reasonably certain. On the other hand, I am satisfied, from talking with plantation owners in the South, with ranchmen in the West, and with woodsmen and hunters all over the country, that, in the remoter regions, many instances of poisoning by copperheads and the smaller rattlesnakes never attain the dignity of being listed, so insignificant are they in their efforts. Were all these to be recorded, I believe that the mortality ratio would fall notably.—Samuel Hopkins Adams in the October Every-body's.

A FAN WITH A HISTORY

It Belonged to Empress Eugenie, and to Charlotte Cushman.

The treasure of one of the world's greatest actresses and before that, of one of the most famous queens in history, a fragile toy wrought of mother-of-pearl, gold and the toil of the artists' brush, the desire of every antiquarian in America—in short, the fan that the Empress Eugenie gave Charlotte Cushman, is in possession of a Boston collector, says Popular Mechanics.

It is a beautiful thing, even without its associations. The sticks are of mother-of-pearl, inlaid with folwors of gold, while the fan itself is covered with symbols and flowers of gold and crimson, little dimmed by the years that have elapsed since the artist first laid them on.

Long ago the fan belonged to the Empress Eugenie, and formed part of the trousseau she brought to France as the bride of Napoleon. It was one of her most treasured possessions, but with characteristic generosity, when the American actress, Charlotte Cushman, played before her, delighting the Empress with her acting, Eugenie plucked it from the chain about her neck and gave it to the young American. How Charlotte Cushman ever came to part with it is unknown, but, for some reason, she gave it to an understudy and later it came into the possession of a Western woman, from whom the Boston collector secured it.

GIVES HIS BLOOD TO FIANCEE IN VAIN.

Devoted Bridegroom—Elect Sees His Sweetheart Die After His Sacrifice to Save Her.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 18.—At the East Bay Sanatorium, Edward A. Bennett offered himself in a futile effort to save the life of his expiring sweetheart, Miss Emma A. Williams, the twenty-two-year daughter of the late P. L. Williams, of Denville, by blood transfusion.

Miss Williams was taken ill two weeks ago and had been steadily growing worse. It was decided that her only chance was the transfusion of a large quantity of normal blood. The operation was made by opening an artery in the wrist of the man and fastening it to the corresponding wrist of the young woman. Miss Williams expired soon afterwards, while Bennett quickly recovered from his loss of blood.

THAT MONKEY WRENCH

By ELSIE B. MATTESON

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

This bit of heroism was an actual occurrence.

Molly Tryne was born to the clicking of telegraph keys. Her father was an agent at a station on the O. B. and G. railroad, and from the time Molly was five years old nothing delighted her so much as to sit in his lap and with her little hand under his on the key send messages. Then when she knew they were real messages that were being sent she would be delig-ed.

"Now, dear," he would say after sending an order for a train to come on, "you've ordered up '17,' and she'll be here in ten minutes, or when the hand of the clock stands there."

Sure enough, when the hand pointed to the designated figure the train would steam up to the station.

As Molly grew older her father taught her the Morse alphabet, and when one day she sent a message all by herself her pleasure knew no bounds. She continued to practice and to learn, and by the time she was fourteen she was of great assistance to her father.

A year later Tryne fell ill and died.
Molly was by this time so well versed in telegraphy that the managers of the railroad continued temporarily her father's salary to her mother, Molly selling tickets, operating the wires and acting as dispatcher. Of course she could not go to school, but, being ambitious to learn, she studied at home, which meant in the tickler and telegraph office. One night she had her books before her studying when, hearing a rap on the window, she looked up and saw the ugly face of a man.

"What do you want?" she asked, her heart leaping up into her throat.

"Open the window!"

Molly sat still, not knowing what to do. As to opening the window, she had no thought of that.

"Open the window or I'll kill you!"

Molly sat looking at him. She may have been paralyzed by fear. Anyway, she made no move to throw up the sash.

The man smashed a pane of glass with his fist and put his arm through the opening to unloosen the catch, but not finding it or because he didn't know how it worked he concluded to try to effect an entrance in another way. Molly heard his steps as he went around to the door which opened on the other side of the station. Running from the office, she was at the door before him and locked it. Then she ran back to her clicker and called for help.

In a few moments she had caught a station where a freight train had just pulled in and told the operator there that a man was trying to break into her office. She had hardly got her message through and received word that help would be sent at once when the man appeared again at the window.

And now Molly rose to the occasion like a true heroine. On her desk was a little nickel plated monkey wrench, glistening for all the world like the polished barrel of a pistol. Seizing it and aiming it at the robber, she called out:

"If you don't go away I'll shoot
you!"

The man didn't go away, but he drew back, and from his walking around the station Molly knew that he was trying to find another entrance.

Meanwhile she clicked an inquiry as to what had been done for her relief and was told that the engine of the train that had come in had been detached and was coming to her assistance as fast as steam would drive it with several armed men aboard. It had left several minutes before, and since it could get over a mile in a minute it should be there in six or seven minutes.

Presently Molly heard its rattle, and the robber probably heard it, too, though not as quick as Molly, who was eagerly expecting it. Besides, he was on the wrong side of the station to hear it. Consequently when the locomotive pulled up he had barely a minute's start. Leaping from the cab, one of the men sought Molly, while the rest sought the robber. They caught sight of him running in company with two other men and, calling on them to halt, fired a shot after them to enforce the order. Every one of the fugitives was captured. Then those who had come to save the little operator assembled to hear her story. When she came to the monkey wrench that had served for a pistol they were lost in wonder. Taking the robbers back to the station the railroad men had come from, the story was told and was telegraphed all along the line. The next day trainmen and passengers, when they passed the station, if they stopped, must see the little girl who had stood off a robber, and if they did not stop crowded the windows and platforms, waving congratulations.

But a more substantial honor, or,
rather, a reward, came from the president of the company. He sent an order that Molly report at the main office. She obeyed the order, and when the timid looking slip of a girl was paraded through the various departments all the employees arose and craned their necks to get sight of her.
Then she was taken into the president's room.

He told her that her mother would be given a pension and that she would be sent to school. He dismissed her, with a fat check.

If Woodrow Wilson is elected Governor of New Jersey, that State is likely to become less of a breeding ground for trusts.

The census returns show Chicago to be the fourth city in size in the world. In 1890 it was the sixth in size. In the last twenty years it almost doubled its population. But as great as has been its growth it is still only about half the size of that other great American city, New York.

Mayor William J. Gaynor, of New York, announces that he will carefully consider the suggestion that he accept the nomination for Governor of New York. The Mayor should stick to his present job. It would be a wholesome exhibition of unselfish devotion to the public service. He was elected to a four years' term and for him to throw it up thus early for another place would show a lack of appreciation of the honor conferred on him.

A London paper quoted by the New York World, gives an answer to the much mooted question, "What is whiskey," the same being the definition of a noted London physician. It is this: "Whiskey is the most popular poison in the world." It's a splendid definition. Whiskey is a poison and it is the one poison that men are most fond of. In the London hospitals, its poisonous properties have long been known and it is said that milk is taking its place in the treatment of disease in the best London hospitals. In 1862 seven of the great London hospitals in a given length of time spent $15,000 on milk and $40,000 on alcohol, while now the greater amount is spent for milk and the smaller amount for alcohol.

The State Board of Health has sent out a most helpful article on "Malaria." This disease costs 15,000 deaths annually in the United States, and Dr. L. O. Howard, Chief of the Bureau of Entomology of the United States government, estimates that there are, in addition to this death rate, between 1,500,000 and 3,000,000 others infected and sick from the disease, with a resulting loss of from 20 to 30 per cent of their productive energy, each year. The article adds that expert opinion, scientific fact and a number of actual examples combine to prove malaria preventable. And what must be thought of a people who do not go to the trouble to prevent 15,000 deaths a year and one to three million cases of sickness a year?

President Taft's proposition to give insurgent as well as regular Republicans Federal jobs has won for him the disapproval of many. He may well be called a president of patronage. His appeals to the South have been largely based on the idea that Southern men ought to be holding some of the fat Federal offices. The New York World administers to him the following stinging rebuke:

Is President Taft a man of principle? Does he regard Republicans as men of principle?

If he ever suspected that the revolt in his party had reasonable moral and intellectual justification there is nothing in the Norton letter to show it. Speaking for millions of people, the insurgents have insisted upon the recognition of certain ideas of right. He responds tardily with an offer of patronage. They have defied plutocracy and privilege. He reluctantly entices them with office. They have denounced the perfidy of their own party. He has excused it, and now with spoils in hand he suggests forgetfulness and reunion.

The history of the Republic may be searched in vain for a parallel to these utterances. No other President has thus revealed his own political cynicism by the estimate that he placed upon his fellows. The element in the Republican party which Mr. Taft thus affronts has monopolized that organization's conscience as the Aldrich-Cannon combination has monopolized its tyranny and greed. It has not sought plunder. It has sought justice. Spoils did not cause it to rebel. Spoils will not lure it to surrender.

A number of prominent Irishmen are on their way to this country. One of them, John Redmond, in a brief speech made at Queestown, said that he was going to sell Americans that the cause of Irish freedom, instead of being subjected to the hostility of the people of Great Britain, was tied up inseparably with the well-being and freedom of the democracy of Great Britain. The struggle today, he added, was between the whole mass of democratic forces in England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland, combined against the last relic of feudalism. The moment the power of the House of Lords disappeared the road to home rule, he declared, was absolutely clear. Really the bone of political contention in all the countries is at the bottom pretty much the same thing. The plain people in the various countries of Great Britain want to shake off the remnants of feudalism. In this country there is a feudalism of commerce and industry that the plain people seem determined to put down. "The square deal" that they are seeking is nothing more than they have been seeking all the time. The change in the situation lies in the fact that they are waking up to the reason that they haven't been getting the square deal. That reason is the commercial feudalism which makes of the average man a serf while the few beneficiaries of inequitable laws are lordling it over all the rest of the population.

Democratic Campaign Book.

The Democratic National Congressional Committee has issued its campaign book and is now distributing it. The committee has no funds save as it obtains them through contributions and is selling the book at $1 per copy, or for 50c. a copy in lots of ten or more.

The book is replete with valuable matter and is said to be the best campaign book ever issued. Every Democrat should have it and in this year of Democratic effort for supremacy should gladly contribute to the committee by purchasing the book. The committee disavows service in Maine with notable results, and if Democrats everywhere will rise to the occasion, by their dollar contributions, the Democratic sun will rise triumphantly—not to set for fifty years to come. Send your orders or contributions to F. F. Garrett, Treasurer, Democratic Campaign Committee, 821 15th street, Northwest, Washington, D. C.

An Ingenious Defense.

Nimble wits and a glib tongue frequently save erring "coppers" on trial before the deputy commissioner at headquarters. Some of the "defenses" put up by offenders are more ingenious than convincing. Not long ago a giant patrolman, accused of being about a quarter of a mile off his beat, evolved this excuse, "You see, it was like this, your honor. I was patrolling my post when I thought I heard a man up the street yelling 'Fire! Fire!' I ran in the direction of the sound, and would you believe me, Mr. Commissioner, there stood a fellow out on the sidewalk trying to wake up a friend of his on the second floor, and he was yelling with all his might 'Meyer! Meyer!' 'Well, that's a brand new one," said the trial commissioner, the suspicion of a snail crawling his face. "Complaint dismissed."—New York Tribune.

Only an optimist can suffer from insomnia and be glad it isn't a toothache that is keeping him awake.

Sure Cure for the Blues.

A leading society lady of New York who had a bad case of "nerves" was ordered to go on the stage by her physician. "That's the only way to get cured," said he. She was too serious and needed good, wholesome diversion from the cares of life.

The "Luncheon Trio" song, by far the most rollicking vocal feature of "The Echo," now playing at the Globe Theatre, New York, is "just what the doctor ordered" in the way of a rejuvenator of good spirits. It will be given, words and music complete, with Sunday's New York World. Order your copy of America's greatest Sunday newspaper from your newsdealer in advance.

To the College Girls.

We welcome you back to our beloved city—"The City of Flowers." We are proud of North Carolina, but are especially proud of Greensboro, the city that stands for the higher education of the young women of our State. To the fair daughters of the Old North State who have come to spend the college year here, we know there will be many questions of importance you will want to ask. One of these important questions will be this: Where can I procure the BEST and the NEWEST things that Dame Fashion has to offer me in the way of dress. That's just the question we want to help you answer. Since last school year we have made extensive additions to our store. The Ready-to-Wear Department is now on the first floor. The Rest and Dressing Room will soon be complete. This store can truly be called the "Daylight Store"—the store has more of the light of day, we think, than any store in the city. This store enjoys the esteem and confidence of the people of Greensboro. We guarantee that every one that enters the door that opens into this great store "shall have a square deal"—that what you buy here is the highest standard of quality, and the latest and newest styles according to fashion—it must be the best going or it can not have a place in this, the "style center" of Greensboro.

We welcome you college girls to our great store, and promise you if at any time you become dissatisfied with any purchase you have made with us, that if you will kindly return same to us, we will gladly refund your money. Satisfaction or your money back is the rule here. Here's to the college girls from the Old North State and the U. S. A.

OFFICIALS PASS THROUGH

Messrs. Clark and Lee Go To New York To Receive Bids on Interurban Equipment.

Mr. W. S. Lee and Mr. J. P. Clark, of the Southern Power Company and the Richmond Traction Company, passed through here last night on their way to New York. Mr. Lee will sail today for business trip to Europe but before leaving he and Mr. Clark will meet representatives of the General Electric Company and receive bids on the motor equipment for the line of interurban railway between Greenville, S. C., and Greenwood, S. C. Mr. Z. V. Taylor met these gentlemen at the station and had conference with them with regard to Greensboro's attitude towards the interurban. Naturally they are interested in the expressions in the new charter touching the rates of public service companies. As will be seen from a report of last night's mass meeting to discuss the new charter, it has not been decided yet just what will be done in the matter of the city's powers with reference to the rates mentioned. Two opposing views are held. One is that the city should fix the rates and the other is that this power should be left with the State Corporation Commission to the end that there should be uniformity all over the State.

HIGH POINT RED
SKINS CELEBRATE

Assisted by Greensboro Braves They Captured Band of Palefaces and Burned One At Stake in True Indian Style—Also Refreshments and Plenty of Speeches.

High Point, Sept. 19.—The Red Men of High Point had a great celebration here Saturday night, in which one hundred and fifty Red Men in costumes participated, some 35 visitors being present from the two tribes in Greensboro, Concord, Thomasville, and other nearby points.

The celebration consisted of a big battle between the Indians and the palefaces, in which two hundred people took part and some five hundred shots were exchanged before the palefaces were captured, their log tepee burned and their belongings on the grounds of the Indians destroyed. The leader of the paleface was burned at the stake, a dummy being dressed like the paleface, and being saturated with kerosene, the transposition being made so quickly that the onlookers did not "catch on."

At 7:30 o'clock the palefaces were encamped on the Wheeler Springs property and the scouts from the Indians were loitering close by. At the same time one hundred and fifty Indians in costume were gathered together on North Main street, awaiting the word from the scouts. Great Sachem W. L. Stamey of the Great Council of North Carolina, Improved Order of Red Men, was on horseback and led the forces. Pretty soon the coming in the distance of the four scouts was noticed. Approaching in a run and making wild gesticulations, ending with a war whoop as they came up to the Red Men. After a minute or so in which signs and words were exchanged the scouts lead off to the scene of activities. Approaching the Wheeler property the Indians trailed in four divisions, thus completely surrounding the enemy.

After the burning of the palefaces' belongings and the capture of the leader a spectacular trial took place. Great Sachem W. L. Stamey acting as Judge, W. T. Powell, as dancing bear, Chas. Blake, as interceder and J. N. Marshall, the paleface to be tortured at the stake. The war dances were given in true Indian style and the other exercises carried out as named above, after which Mr. J. E. Kirkman, made an interesting talk. The exercises at the grounds being completed the Indians and palefaces formed a torchlight procession, moving down North and South Main street, every one of the two hundred carrying red and green torches, presenting quite a pretty sight. During the march the lights of the city were turned out through the courtesy of Mayor Fred N. Tate. After the procession the Red Men assembled in the wigwam where refreshments were served and many speeches made, winding up at a late hour one of the most interesting occasions in the history of the city among the Red Men who are increasing steadily in numbers here and throughout the State.

It will be of much interest to the Red Men throughout North Carolina to know that through the present administration of five months that a gain of something like 750 has already been made in the State and that the net increase by next May the end of the term of Great Sachem W. L. Stamey it is expected the figures will reach more than double this number.

The Tomahawk, the official organ of the Red Men of North Carolina, published at High Point and edited by the Great Sachem, has the distinction of being the largest fraternal paper published in the United States, containing on an average 34 pages each issue.

In the past ten days tribes have been instituted at Thomasville and Spencer with nearly one hundred members. The crack degree team of High Point in charge of W. E. Herndon, a member of the Great Council, went over in a body and put on the work.

THE ANDORRANS.

All the Inhabitants of the Little Republic Are Related.

The inhabitants of Andorra, the little republic which is wedged in between France and Spain and which has existed since the year 782, are very proud of their blue blood and ancient lineage. In their eyes a gavage (foreigner) of any description or nationality is merely an inferior being, a sort of mushroom upstart in comparison with themselves. During 1,200 years they have continually married and intermarried to such an extent that at present all the inhabitants are practically cousins, yet, strange to say, neither their physical, mental nor moral qualities seem to have suffered. Both sexes are strong limbed, broad shouldered, light eyed, hardy and long lived, retaining their hair and their teeth to a green old age. They are also keen witted and intelligent, alert and happy hearted, sober, industrious, hospitable and devout. The feminine Andorran has not a vestige of coquetry about her. She is just the female pure and simple. She is a thrifty housewife, a helpmate to her husband in the most literal sense of the term—ready and able to trudge off across mountain and valley beside him with a pack of smuggled goods on her back in case of need.—Wide World Magazine.

PROMOTED THE COOK.

An Error Made Him a Professor of History in Russia.

Some years ago the minister of education in St. Petersburg was appealed to by telegram for a cook, to be hurried to Moscow. The operator got his dashes and dots mixed, but by next train a man arrived and was ceremoniously conducted to the university, where he was introduced to the assembled faculty and students as the new professor in history.

The unhappy fellow protested that, while he might be a professor of pots and pans, he knew nothing about history. But in Russian official life it is harder far to correct an error than to make one, so for several years the cook has held his professorship, though no one attends his lectures.

Another laughable story comes from the Suwalki school for boys. A doorkeeper there who could scarcely read or write had grown so untidy and slow that he was no longer useful, but as the headmaster did not want to let him drift he promoted him to a teacher's post and had him transferred to a distant school. He, too, will be a professor some day.—Moscow Letter in New York World.

A Reliable Medicine—NOT A NARCOTIC

Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little boy's life. She writes: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house." Very few people who have not made a study of the subject can tell good shoes from the other kind. Shoes worth $2.50 and those worth $3, when made on the same lasts and finished in the same style, look very much alike—so much so that often even an expert couldn't tell one from the other without cutting them open and getting at their true inwardness. All of which goes to show that it pays to buy shoes from people in whom you have confidence, people who will sell you good shoes and who will back up what they tell you about them. There are two things that have done a great deal towards building up our splendid shoe trade in this town—one the selling of good shoes, the other our "money back" if you don't like a guarantee of good wear. Our fall stock is now complete, and we will take great pleasure in showing you some of the best shoes you ever looked at.

OUR WOMEN SPOILED BY INDULGENT HUSBANDS.

Their English Sisters Will Get Ballot First, Says Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont.

New York, Sept. 17.—"American women are spoiled by their indulgent husbands."

This is the verdict of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont after a two months' trip of investigation and study of the women's advanced movement abroad. Mrs. Belmont visited her offices at the National Suffrage headquarters, No. 505 Fifth avenue, yesterday, for the first time in several weeks. She wore a black chiffon gown and long black chignon coat with silver braid ornaments and a large black hat with silver plumes.

"Compared to the English women, the women of this country have no idea of suffrage," declared Mrs. Belmont. "They will get suffrage over there much quicker than we will here. The trouble with us women here is that we are too modest, too retiring."

Mrs. Belmont announced plans for a big State fair to be held here sometime in December. She said she had met Miss Annie Morgan and Miss Elizabeth Marbury in Paris. Miss Marbury, she said, had told her she would contribute to the fair by helping to put on a play.

"No, Miss Morgan did not commit herself to suffrage," said Mrs. Belmont. "She is deeply interested in her trades union work among girls. I shall help her with her work, and she told me she would help me with the fair."

Mrs. Belmont said the Duchess of Marlborough would not come to this country this winter.

"She is so occupied with her work among the wives of prisoners, obtaining work for them and looking after the three big homes she has built for these unfortunate women."

WOMEN LAY BRICK TO BUILD CHURCH.

Work With Men of Congregation In Constructing Jersey City Edifice.

New York World.

Half a dozen women and as many men are daily engaged in the actual work of building a church at Baldwin avenue and Wayne street, Jersey City. Already the foundation is laid and the women who have mixed mortar and carried and laid the bricks, have done an equal share of the work with the men.

The structure is for the Apostolic Church, of which Mrs. Sarah B. Earl is pastor. Eighteen years ago she organized the sect, which believes in "the old-fashioned Bible, faith cure and prayer." A short time ago the building of a church was suggested and soon the thirty members of the congregation had contributed enough money to begin work. The women wear gingham bonnets and aprons and go to work with the men about 9 a. m. and don't knock off until the whistle blows at 5:30 p. m. The building is to be three stories high. It will be entirely of brick.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause breakdowns. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c at Fariss-Klutzn Drug Co.

Neglected Opportunities.

Pittsburg Post
"This is the site of an ancient city," announced the Arab guide. "As you see, not one stone remains upon another."
"You fellows lack enterprise," commented the tourist. "Why don't you take some of this building material and construct some ruins?"

Mrs. Jacob Wilmet, Lincoln, Ill., found her way back to perfect health. She writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble and backache and my appetite was very poor at times. ## NON-TIP RULE A SUCCESS.

Visitors to London Pleased With the New Arrangement.

The experiment of a non-tip hotel in the Strand in London has proved a success, says a writer from that city. Since the establishment was opened a year ago there has not been a vacant bedroom, a record which could not be equalled by any other London hotel. Every day the management has had to refuse visitors. Altogether nearly a quarter of a million guests have stayed at the hotel in 344 days it has been open.

The success of the hotel, the directors believe, is mainly due to the non-tip rule. Guests are forbidden to offer any servant of the hotel a gratuity and servants found accepting them are instantly dismissed. People know exactly what it is going to cost them before they set foot in the hotel and when they pay their bills there is no need for them to put their hands into their pockets to tip anybody.

Although the rule against tipping is rigidly enforced by the management, there have been visitors who have insisted upon offering gratuities. In order to protect the servants from temptation the management has had to request these visitors either to abide by the regulations or to seek accommodations elsewhere.

The management has had no difficulty in securing plenty of waiters and chambermaids despite the fact that they receive no tips.

FOR A MODEL SERVANT.

Her Employer Gives Her a House and Lot as Reward.

Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) Dispatch. Because she had been a model servant Kate Brown has received from her employer, Mrs. Julia De Windt Thompson, wife of Dr. Thompson, of Ferris Lane, a suburb of Poughkeepsie, a gift of a new home, free and clear of all incumbrances, on a lot of ample size, next to the Thompson property. The deed conveying the property from Mrs. Thompson to Kate Brown was filed in the Dutchess county Clerk's office today.

Mrs. Thompson sent for Benjamin Brevoort, a surveyor, sometime ago, and had him measure off a generous strip of land from her estate. She built a substantial and attractive house on the lot and when it was all done she surprised Kate by walking into the kitchen and giving her the deed. The Thompsons have a New York city home.

MISS GOULD HAS CIRCUS.

Peanuts, Red Lemonade, and Candy for Youngsters at Lynhurst.

Lynhurst, the country seat of Miss Helen M. Gould, at Tarrytown, was the scene of an old-fashioned circus yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the annual fete to the members of Miss Gould's sewing class.

The circus was genuine, with side shows, red lemonade and peanuts thrown in and no one enjoyed it more than Miss Gould. More than 400 children were present, all dressed in white and wearing masks of various animals. The circus performance was given by Miss Gould's Sunday-school class and Miss Northrup's class, under the direction of Miss Northrup.

Miss Gould shook hands with all the children as they departed for home. She said it had been a day of much pleasure to her.

BRYAN FOR HOKE SMITH

Thinks He Should Be Given Chance For Presidency in 1912.

From The Commoner. The Georgia convention in ratifying the nomination of ex-Governor Hoke Smith, who recently won the gubernatorial nomination at the primary, suggested him for the Presidency. And why not? In 1900 and 1908, whenever Mr. Bryan's nomination was suggested, the corporation papers of the East insisted that the nomination ought to go to the South. Why not give the South a chance now? Hoke Smith is from the South. He is a big man, too. He was in the Cabinet.

APPALACHIAN EXPOSITION SURPASSES EXPECTATION

Wright Brothers Aeroplane Flights Among Features For Coming Week.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 17.—Success surpassing the most sanguine anticipations of the promoters has been achieved by the Appalachian exposition during its first week.

The great enterprise, the largest and most comprehensive ever presented in the south, opened its gates last Monday at noon, with every detail complete. This fact alone made the Appalachian exposition an exception in the history of great fairs, and is largely responsible for the degree of pleasure the thousands of visitors within its gates have attained.

The coming week's program bids fair to surpass that of the first week and the attendance will be correspondingly greater, if the present indications prevail. Among the stellar attractions booked for the week is the continuation of the aviation tournament, with the added feature extraordinary of the Wright brothers' aeroplanes. The Wright machine will make its initial ascension at a southern exposition or fair on Wednesday afternoon. Flights will be made daily for one week, and it is confidently expected that thousands will be drawn to the exposition solely for this feature. The daring evolutions, which have made the Wright machine famous as a practical aerial craft, will be executed, and it will be an exhibition second to none that has ever been seen in the south. In addition to this, the Stroebel dirigible balloon, Coleman's triple parachute leaps from dual balloons, and the captive balloon "Illinois" will also make two or more ascensions each day. The aviation tournament is proving one of the best drawing cards, and is wholly unlike anything ever offered in this section. The Wright brothers' aeroplane has been secured at a very large expense, and it is held out as a prime feature of the exposition period.

The most spectacular of the many pyrotechnic displays contracted for the Appalachian exposition, will be offered during the coming week, beginning with Monday night, September 19, and continuing through Saturday night, September 24. This will be Pain's "Battle of the Clouds." Never has human mind conceived a more dramatic or more highly interesting creation in pyrotechnics.

Coincident with the Wright brothers' machine's coming will be the opening of the bench show. This will present 1,000 or more fine canines. Dogs are registered from all parts of the South, and many fanciers in the north and east have also entered their dogs. The management asserts that this will be the best bench show ever planned and executed in the south, and men who are eminent authorities in matters canine are interested in it. This show will continue through September 22, 23 and 24.

In addition to these special features for the coming week, the large number of midway and other amusements will be in full blast, some new attractions having been added since the exposition's opening. The Midway Jungle is a constellation of places of entertainment for the pleasure seeker, beginning with the wild west show and continuing through the trained wild animal exhibition, goat and pony shows, Esquimaux and Oriental villages, etc., etc. The collection of shows is high class and complete, and the Midway Jungle has been the scene of much amusement and merriment each day and night.

The Family Finances

How important it is to adopt a definite plan for handling the family funds. When money is received, it should be carefully allotted to the various objects for which it is intended. For example, a certain portion for the bills that are due; another portion for the current expenses; another portion for any special object, such as: church, lodge or society dues, and yet another portion for the savings account—do not neglect to save a part of your money.
